A licensed interpreter is qualified to meet the communication needs of both parties. AIDB interpreters are in compliance with Alabama Interpreter Licensure Law to ensure they meet the highest standards of professionalism in skill, aptitude, and ethics, including confidentiality.

When do I need an interpreter?
An interpreter is needed when interpreting is the aid/service that will allow for the most effective communication. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) requires that businesses and nonprofit organizations that serve the public communicate effectively with people who have communication disabilities. The ADA places responsibility for providing effective communication, including the use of interpreters, directly on these covered entities. They cannot require a person to bring someone to interpret for him or her, nor can they charge the Deaf person for aids/services that facilitate equal access.
